Canon Manual Focus Not Working

Hello. I recently got an EF 50mm 1.8 lens for my EOS 60D. The automatic focus appears to be fine but turning the focus ring while in manual does not change focus at all. I've made sure that the lens is set to "MF" and I can see "M FOCUS" on my top display. I tried the lens on another camera and it...

Canon DSLR bodies prevent poor auto-focus performance by disabling it completely when the lens reports maximum aperture at chosen focal length smaller than f/5.6. This implies that some lenses will not auto-focus on a teleconverter, e.g. the popular Canon EF 100-400 f/4.5-5.6L, or any f/4 lens on a TC stronger than 1.4x.

Only still image focusing is talked about in the manual. I do not use the video cam for still images. While recording video, I may want to hold an object close to the camera for a closeup. When I do this, most of the time, the object is totally out of focus, while everything in the background is in focus.
