or 1960s, but your understanding of what surrounds the participants keeps being augmented by oddities - the robots who live in some of the houses, the sound of raptors in the sky, scows overhead, the sorcerer Body-without-Soul who Whoa.

Duplex by Kathryn Davis - Goodreads

Kathryn Davis is clearly a remarkable writer, and she has created a distinct style. It reminds me of a feminine William S. Burroughs, where dream content mixes with the real world inseparably. It's amazing how she sustains this disorienting, vaguely menacing tone throughout. Some of the moments are special, chilling, impactful.
