The Doors of Perception is a book by Aldous Huxley. Published in 1954, it elaborates on his psychedelic experience under the influence of mescaline in May 1953. Huxley recalls the insights he experienced, ranging from the "purely aesthetic" to "sacramental vision", [1] and reflects on their philosophical and psychological implications.

The Doors of Perception - Wikipedia

Doors of Perception is a deeply interesting short essay by the famous author Aldous Huxley. In 1953 he was involved in a controlled experiment into the psychological effects of the drug mescaline. What he describes is less a mere hallucinatory experience and more an opening of his ability to perceive, and to see himself as part of the Oneness of the universe.

The Doors of Perception & Heaven and Hell by Aldous Huxley

The Doors of Perception is a poignant book, partly because it reveals the human frailties and yearnings of a very cerebral writer, Financial Times From the Inside Flap In 1953, Aldous Huxley took four-tenths of a gram of the drug Mescaline, sat down and waited to see what would happen.
